

Smash City Defenses

SAIGON (AP) — Spearheaded by tanks, a North Vietnamese division smashed the northern defenses of a key provincial capital city in the central highlands today and drove South Vietnamese forces as far back as 15 miles. New air and sea battles erupted deep inside North Vietnam, in the Gulf of Tonkin and the Gulf of Siam.

Not since the opening day of the current North Vietnamese offensive, when thousands of enemy troops stormed across the demilitarized zone to attack Quang Tri Province, have the North Vietnamese made such advances.

The highlands defense line of Tan Canh and Dak To 25 miles north of the capital, Kontum City, crumbled under the enemy onslaught and a new line was being formed 10 miles north of the capital. Kontum City is said to be the ultimate objective in the 26-day-old North Vietnamese offensive.

A radio message was sent out to the scattered and badly battered South Vietnamese 22nd Infantry Division, which had its forward command post at Tan Canh and a regimental command post at Dak To, to pull back to a new defensive line at Vo Dinh on Highway 14. This is about 15 miles south of Tan Canh and about 10 miles north of Kontum. Other lesser bases and towns crumbled in the path of the North Vietnamese onslaught.

In the air war, the U.S. Command said, about 10 surface-to-air missiles were fired at B52 strategic bombers raiding North Vietnam. One of the bombers sustained what the command termed "minor battle damage."

A U.S. helicopter was shot down near Dak To, north of Kontum, and the four crewmen were killed. It was the 22nd American helicopter lost since the offensive began, the U.S. Command said. Seventeen planes also have been lost, and total air crew casualties are 25 Americans killed, eight wounded and 35 missing, the command said.

The United States sent its big B52 bombers to within 80 miles of Hanoi to attack supply depots, railroads, highways and marshalling yards at the big coastal city of Thanh Hoa.

For the first time in the war, one of the giant bombers was reported hit over the North, by fragments from a surface-to-air missile, but it returned safely to Da Nang with 30 holes in its fuselage and a ruptured fuel tank. There were no casualties among the six crewmen.

Another American plane, an Air Force F4 Phantom fighter-bomber, was shot down near Dong Hoi, 45 miles above the demilitarized zone, and the two crewmen were pulled from the Tonkin Gulf by a Navy helicopter.

Nine Americans were wounded and three buildings were damaged by a 13-round rocket barrage against the Da Nang Air Base, the biggest in South Vietnam from which raids are flown against North Vietnam.

The North Vietnamese attack in the highlands developed shortly after midnight when the tank column rolled down Highway 14, which connects Pleiku, Kontum, Dak To and Tan Canh.

Leaving Lunar Orbit

Preparing For Journey to Earth

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 16's explorers fire out of lunar orbit tonight to start the long journey home with a treasure ship of rocks that scientists believe will prove the moon long ago was wracked by volcanoes.

The major finds came Sunday, on the third moon drive that almost was canceled because Mission Control felt the astronauts might be tired and pressed for time as a result of their late landing Thursday night.

They return with 245 pounds of materials which represent perhaps the oldest and most significant samples yet collected on the lunar surface. Locked inside are secrets of how the moon was born more than four billion years ago.

Geologists are certain that John W. Young, Charles M. Duke Jr. and Thomas K. Mattingly got everything they sought during man's fifth moon landing mission, primarily the volcanic evidence.

The astronauts trigger the command ship Casper's big engine at 9:16 p.m. tonight to begin the 66-hour, 240,000-mile voyage back to earth. Splashdown is scheduled Thursday in the Pacific Ocean.

The three astronauts were reunited Sunday night after Young and Duke blasted off the moon in the cabin section of the lunar ship Orion and skillfully maneuvered it to a linkup two hours later with Mattingly in Casper.

"What a ride! What a ride!" Duke shouted as Orion blasted away from the mountainous Descartes plateau at 8:36 p.m., EST ending a 71-hour surface expedition during which the moonmen set records for the amount of rocks collected, time on the surface and speed traveled by their classy moon buggy.

The two ships maneuvered around one another as Mattingly took pictures of the effects of the liftoff on Orion's thin skin, then they gingerly moved together nose-to-nose.

"I believe we got everything we went for," said Dr. Tony England, a scientist-astronaut who was capsule communicator during much of the flight.

"It was an outstanding success—really crowning achievement for the Apollo 16 crew," said flight controller Pete Franks.

The main goal was to find volcanic evidence as they drove their moon car over the Descartes plateau and on and around Stone Mountain. Experts here believe that evidence is tucked away in the carefully documented sample bags the astronauts are bringing home.

They base this on extremely clear television pictures relayed to Mission Control and the expert descriptions of the moon walkers as they examined hundreds of rocks, including boulders the size of buildings on their third and final excursion Sunday.

The result, scientists here said, is a mission that will contribute just as much to lunar science as the Apollo 15 flight test last summer.

After setting up a science station and exploring the Cayley Plains Friday, the astronauts drove halfway up 1,600-foot Stone Mountain Saturday in their quest for volcanic remnants and ancient lunar rocks.

But they made the most significant discoveries Sunday.

Supreme Court Has Sidestepped Suit Against Auto Manufacturers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today stepped out of a suit by 18 states against big auto manufacturers and concluded that nationwide pollution cases are best handled by lower courts.

The immediate effect of the unanimous decision is to slow a drive by the states to force the manufacturers to install anti-pollution equipment in all 85 to 100 million autos built by them between 1953 and 1969.

Justice William O. Douglas, who generally takes the lead in urging the court to expand its docket, delivered the ruling saying that while the 18 states have the Constitution on their side, their suit, for practical reasons, belongs before lower courts.

The suit charges General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors with conspiring to delay the development and introduction of antismog devices. The states said they began their suit in the high court because if they had begun at the lowest level of the judiciary system it might take 10 years to reach a final settlement.

Douglas did not comment directly on this point, although he said in a footnote that a similar suit already is under way in a U.S. district court in California.

As for pollution cases generally, he wrote, it makes more practical sense to put them to district courts because local conditions are an important factor in the final judgment.

However, Douglas said, "the proposed complaint plainly presents important questions of vital national importance" and "our jurisdiction over the controversy cannot be disputed."

The government dropped its own antitrust suit against the automakers in 1969. A consent decree restrained the four companies and a fifth named defendant, the Automobile Manufacturers Association, from any future conspiracy.

The 18 states are Washington, Illinois, Arizona, Colorado, Hawaii, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Idaho, Ohio, Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia, North Dakota and West Virginia.

In other action, the court: —Tossed out a test case which could have altered the Miranda decision governing the use of confessions. The court agreed with attorneys for a Pennsylvania man that his murder trial should not be reviewed because a state supreme court decision which placed his case under the Miranda rule was based in part on state law, thus placing it beyond the federal high court. The 1966 Miranda ruling invalidates confessions unless the accused has first been informed of his rights to remain silent and to have an attorney present.

—Declined 8 to 0 to speed its consideration of a school-desegregation case in Norfolk, Va.

Cocaine Found

Possession Arrests For Two Sedalians

Two Sedalia men are being held in the Pettis County jail in lieu of $10,000 bonds each on charges of possessing a controlled substance — cocaine.

Gary L. Pate, 616 East 12th, and Robert Moon, 1325 East Ninth, were taken into custody by Sedalia police at 1:05 a.m. Sunday at the Wheel-Inn.

Police Chief William Miller said his department was checking all vehicles matching the description of a car involved in a rape case in Sedalia last week. He said his officers "put the red light and siren" on the car occupied by Pate and Moon, who pulled into the Wheel-Inn parking lot.

According to reports, each man had a packet of a white, powdery substance in his possession at the time of the arrest. Both men were held for investigation of possession of narcotics.

Sedalia police officers took the material to Marshall where a pharmacist tested it and determined it to be cocaine. A more complete analysis is being made by the Highway Patrol, it was learned.

Prosecuting Attorney Adam Fischer said the exact amount of the substance was not known, but that two packets were involved.

Monday morning both men were brought before Magistrate Judge Frank Armstrong and their preliminary hearing was set for May 18. Attempts by attorney James Buckley to have the bonds reduced were refused by Judge Armstrong.

The car the men were driving apparently matched the description of a vehicle driven by a man who raped a Sedalia housewife last Wednesday on Sedalia's east side. Miller said police had one or two leads they were presently investigating.

Spainhower Sees Gap in 'Credibility'

James I. Spainhower, Marshall, brought his campaign for State Treasurer to Sedalia Sunday where he was guest of honor at a coffee at Bothwell Hotel.

The former Saline County state representative said the most crucial issue facing the race for treasurer is the credibility gap surrounding that office saying, "I feel that the Democratic Party must present a candidate for this position in whom the people can have complete trust that the State's funds are receiving a completely trustworthy and competent custodianship."

Concerning the controversial issue of determining which banks he would recommend to handle the state's financial business if elected Spainhower said, "... I have not made, and will not make, any commitment to any bank, or to the representative of any bank, that I will place any account or any amount of money with any bank. I will conduct the office in the manner which I feel is in the best interest of all the people of Missouri," he continued, "and will not permit a few self-serving and greedy individuals to deprive the people of Missouri of financial benefits to which they are entitled from their tax funds."

While in Sedalia, Spainhower also outlined a list of seven immediate priorities which he said he felt should be implemented to improve the operation of the Treasurer's office. They are:

- 1—Take over control of all collection accounts, as required by law, and require cash flow speedups from designated collection account banks.
- 2—Examine the cash balance needs of the state so that balances in the state's demand accounts are not excessive.
- 3—Examine for fitness banks designated as state depositories.

- 4—Formulate a "Missouri Plan" devoid of politics in selecting depository banks for the state's idle funds.
- 5—Request an Attorney General's opinion on student loans under the Higher Education Act of 1965 to determine whether such loans may be deposited with the state as security for state deposits. Spainhower also pledged he would request legislation to make such a procedure legal should the Attorney General rule otherwise.
- 6—Open all fiscal records of the Treasurer's office to public examination.
- 7—Make available an accounting of the state's receipts and disbursements.

Spainhower said this seven-point program represents the same action pledged by him at his campaign kick-off Jan. 27 in Marshall.

Thomas Won't Run; Democrat Has Filed

A third Pettis Countian filed for the position of judge of the western district of the Pettis County Court Monday while the current office holder, Zeb Thomas, announced he would not seek re-election.

Ellis J. Ulmer, Route 2, Green Ridge, announced Monday morning he had filed on the Democratic ticket for the August primary. Filing deadline is Tuesday.

Ulmer, 58, a well-known farmer in the Green Ridge area, is a member of the Green Ridge Chamber of Commerce and has served as a Democratic committeeman several times.

A lifelong Green Ridge area resident, Ulmer said he filed for the position because he felt he understood "the needs of the people in the Western District."

Thomas said Monday that he will not seek re-election this year. He said he did not rule out the possibility of seeking the office sometime in the future but did not specify the year.

A Republican, 43-year-old Thomas, a native of LaMonte, is now serving a third two-year term on the county court. "I've enjoyed being on the court. There are other people who can handle the county. Let them get a taste of it," he said, explaining his reasons for not seeking the office again.

Asked what he considered the most significant accomplishment during his term on the court, Thomas replied, "The county jail. We passed the bond for it. I had quite a bit to do with the purchasing of the land and the construction of the building."

Thomas said he would like to see both parties represented on the county court.

Ellis J. Ulmer

The three candidates who are seeking his office are all Democrats — Chester Feaster, 64, a resident of rural Pettis County near Windsor; Howard Blakely, 54, LaMonte; and Ulmer.

Thomas said it is likely a Republican candidate will file for the office before deadline.

Asked what he considers Pettis County's most urgent need, Thomas replied, "I would like to see Pettis County have a landfill operation to dump trash." He said it would check the current practice of some Sedalia residents who dump their trash in holes in county farms and pasture lands.

Thomas will hold the office until the end of this year.

Ann Landers

Solved His Problem By Whistling Tune

Dear Ann Landers: When I read the letter in your column from the guy with the bashful kidney it made my whole day. It's good to know I'm not the only one in the world with such a kooky problem. I'd like to help my afflicted buddies by sharing a gimmick that helped me cope with the situation. It was suggested by my high school football coach. The idea is to get your mind off yourself and on to something completely unrelated. The way to do it is to WHISTLE your favorite tune. Mine was "Lulu's Back in Town."

A few years ago I was in a large office building in a strange city. I started out for the men's room and couldn't find it. I did go by a ladies' room, however, and seeing as how my kidneys were killing me I decided to chance it. I ducked into one of the alcoves, which, of course, had a door on it. At that very moment I heard another person come in. I started to whistle "Lulu's Back in Town." The voice next to me yelled, "I hate that tune!" So I immediately switched to "Way Down Upon the Swanee River." She shouted, "That's better." So "Swanee" has been my tune ever since.

If you print my letter please don't use my name or initials. I'd never hear the end of it. Thanks, Ann. — Bashful Kidney In Minneapolis

Dear Bashful Kid: "Swanee River" is somehow a more appropriate selection. Thanks for your letter.

Dear Ann Landers: My son is 58 years old. He had a stroke last year and is partially crippled. His insurance and early retirement money takes good care of him so he has no financial problem.

The women he wants to marry is 43 years of age. She has four children. One child is still at home with her — a 15-year-old boy. I am against this marriage but I cannot persuade my son I am right. I don't believe it would be fair to a 43-year-old woman to marry a man who can't give her the physical pleasures she is entitled to. I have not discussed this with him because it is not a subject for a mother and a son. But it bothers me a great deal. The woman is very cool toward me because she knows I am against the marriage. They seem to get along fine together but I'm afraid after they are married it will be a different story. What do you think? — Louisiana Reader

Dear Lou: I think a 58-year-old man does not need his mother's permission to get married. Also, you don't know what their personal life is like and it's none of your business. It might be better than you think. You should be pleased that your son has found a woman he wants to marry — and who wants to marry him. Stop trying to undermine the situation and wish them luck.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 20-year-old college student and I can't believe the things people write to you about. The letters I read in the papers seem so absurd — for example, the 14-year-old girl who fell in love with the bus driver, and all those idiots who fall for married men. Do you believe they are real? My hunch is that they are from a bunch of clowns who are trying to get their letters in the paper. Level with me, Ann. Don't you think the people who write to you are a little weird? — GMG In Kalamazoo

Dear G.: The other guy's problem sounds a little weird until something similar happens to you. If you haven't seen yourself in the column yet, keep reading. You will. Suddenly other people's problems will seem a lot less nutty.

Kansas City Boy Killed By Hunter

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A 9-year-old Kansas City boy was shot and killed Saturday afternoon when a 69-year-old hunter said he mistook him for a groundhog.

The victim is Ronald Paul Tracy. He was hit once in the head with a shot from a 22-caliber rifle as he sat fishing with his brother, Michael, on a creek near Greenwood, south of Kansas City.

The Jackson County Sheriff's office said John Slagle was hunting groundhogs near the creek and told officers he fired at what he thought was a groundhog among some rocks. The shot hit the boy.

The sheriff's file is to be presented to the prosecutor's office Monday morning. Slagle was released pending the prosecutor's decision.

Knowledge Relieves Springfield Mother

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — A Springfield mother says there's a sense of relief knowing her son is finally going to lie at rest in the United States.

Her son, Radioman 2nd class Alva L. Cloepfil, was 20 years old when he and 16 others died in the wreckage of a transport plane in a remote, mountainous region of New Guinea in 1944.

The wreckage was discovered last October by a civil patrol.

Twelve of the victims have been identified by dog tags and service records.

Mrs. Mabel Orndoff says it is a relief to know her son is finally coming home. Services and burial arrangements will be announced in Springfield this week.

Louis Harris Survey

McGovern Is Gaining Popularity

By LOUIS HARRIS

Although he has been the longest declared candidate in the race for President, only now are the American people beginning to make up their minds about Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota. Their impressions of McGovern are more positive than negative, but large numbers of voters, as many as four or five out of every ten, have not yet focused attention on him.

On the positive side, two qualities have come to dominate public thinking about McGovern:

— By 51-9 per cent, a majority of Americans 18 years of age and over agree with the statement that McGovern "has the courage to say what he thinks, even if it is unpopular." Among young persons under 30, this admiration rises to 55 per cent. Among the better informed, more affluent college-educated group it increases to 61 per cent. Still, on an overall basis, a full 40 per cent of the public is not yet able to answer such a question regarding McGovern one way or the other.

— By 41-19 per cent, a cross section of voters believe that the South Dakota Senator "deserves a lot of credit for being against the Vietnam war before others were." Within the electorate, this sentiment increases among the young, the college educated, and independent voters. With the war now intensified in Vietnam, this issue, on which McGovern staked so much, has now returned as a front-and-center concern of large numbers of people and it is likely to help his candidacy at the polls.

Based on the roughly one-half of the electorate who currently have a firm picture of Sen. McGovern, it is apparent that if he is to make his long way to winning the Democratic nomination, it will probably be on the basis of his stands on issues rather than his personality. Lately, he has been broadening his attention, for example, to the economic dissatisfactions of blue-collar workers. A larger than usual cross section of 2,973 households, interviewed between April 1 and 7, yielded these results in tests of the impact of the McGovern personality:

— By a 27-26 per cent count, only a slim plurality of the public agrees that McGovern "has a sincere, appealing personality." Even among the young, the Senator's personality registers positively by only 31-22 per cent. Among the key college educated, the Senator's personal appeal comes across negatively, 38-32 per cent.

Turning the question around, another slim plurality, 28-26 per cent, concedes that McGovern "has a flat, uninteresting personality." Young people take exception to such a statement by only 33-24 per cent. The important college-educated group agrees that McGovern lacks personal excitement by 34-33 per cent.

Paradoxically, the rather bland McGovern personality impact enables him to take more categorical positions with a certain amount of immunity. He can stake out positions which might cause a more charismatic figure real trouble and they will not seem as extreme, because he appears so unthreatening.

One of McGovern's problems has been that the rate of "don't know's" in his case sometimes runs two or three times higher than those for his principal rivals for the nomination, Humphrey and Muskie. But as he takes his stands to the people, he is becoming known as the left-of-center candidate. This point emerged when McGovern's position on the political spectrum was examined.

By 29-20 per cent, the public feels that the Senator has "too extreme, liberal views." Nearly every group in the electorate tends to feel this way except young people, who disagree by 33-26 per cent. The college educated tend to be critical of McGovern for being overly liberal by a lesser 38-31 per cent margin. Labor union members, on the other hand, are more concerned than the general public that McGovern is an "extremist," by 34-21 per cent.

In surveys where McGovern has been pitted against President Nixon among all voters, the South Dakota Senator has fared poorly to date. On a "laundry list" of all prospective Democratic candidates, he also finishes far behind at this time. Part of the reason for this is that 40 to 50 per cent of the voters simply have not yet formed any definite impression of him, and these come from the same groups least likely to turn out for primaries.

Yet with Vietnam once more heating up, McGovern cannot be taken lightly. The traditional challenge for the "out" candidate is to make the issues against the incumbent. In McGovern's case, the issue may, in the end, make the candidate.

'Energy Policy' Sought By Club

GOODLAND, Kan. (AP) — The 6-state Rocky Mountain Council of the Sierra Club Sunday adopted a resolution calling for "a positive long-range national energy policy."

The council urged the National Sierra Club to be the first conservation organization to formulate and present such a policy to Congress.

The group also called on the federal government to take the lead in seeking an international agreement to end the present nuclear waste disposal system.

Also backed was a Corps of Engineers flood control plan for Lawrence, Kan. The council opposed a portion of the plan that would require ditching Mud Creek, a natural stream, for 12 miles north of the city.

Saturday the council called for further study of water and flood control needs in the Hays area before a commitment is made to the "Round Mound" water project. The council did endorse the proposed El Dorado Reservoir in southern Kansas.

this spring!

All it takes is the help of the right products from Scott's

You need food to live
... so does your lawn

Nature supplies some nutrients. Enough to keep grass alive. But not much beyond that. So if you want your lawn to do more than just survive, feed it. And the better the lawn food, the better the lawn. That's why TURF BUILDER, from Scott's, is America's favorite lawn food. TURF BUILDER is Trionized to release its nutrients gradually, as the grass needs them. Makes grass grow thicker and greener, instead of just longer. Spread TURF BUILDER now and see for yourself.

How to weed your lawn
as you feed it

Simply spread TURF BUILDER PLUS 2, Scott's combination product that gets rid of weeds as it feeds your grass to greener beauty. You spread Plus-2 just like regular fertilizer. It goes right to work clearing out dandelions, chickweed, clover and most other common non-grass weeds. Makes them curl up and gradually disappear — roots and all. Meanwhile the fertilized lawn grows thicker and greener, filling in where the weeds were. Not for use when seeding.

You can add the vigor of new life to your lawn

If you're planning on planting grass seed this spring you'll be pleased with FAMILY brand. Whether you're seeding a new lawn or seeding into a thin lawn to make it thicker, you'll find that this best selling blend is a wise choice for front, back or side yards. Blended from fine perennial grasses, FAMILY brand adapts to a broad range of conditions, and can be used in full sun or partial shade. FAMILY is the ideal choice for an attractive, all-purpose lawn.

Has To Beg

Benga, a gorilla born one year ago, begs for a tidbit from his mother Helen at the Chicago Lincoln Park Zoo recently. All residents in the Great Ape House enjoyed coffee cake, lemons and pears as part of Benga's birthday celebration, but Benga appears to have gotten the short end of things. (UPI)

Boys Town Wealth Exceeds Its Needs

BOYS TOWN, Neb. (AP) — Boys Town, the unique home founded 55 years ago for orphans, has more money than it knows what to do with, a published report says.

The Sun Newspapers of Omaha, in a copyright report, says Boys Town has a net worth of at least $209 million—possibly much more. Fund-raising activities bring in $25 million a year, more than four times what is spent caring for the residents, the weekly newspaper says.

The article says that Boys Town had debt-free wealth of $191.4 million in its 1970 report, while its U.S. census listed 993 men, women and children in the city on the western edge of Omaha. The figures would provide an average wealth of more than $191,000 per person, the newspaper says.

The institution, with its 1,300-acre campus, floundered financially, the article said, through most of the 30 years it was headed by the late Msgr. E. J. Flanagan, its founder in 1917. But by his death in 1948, money had begun to come in and Father Flanagan had it pledged to pay off a major plant expansion.

Msgr. Nicholas H. Wegner, who has headed Boys Town since 1948, has concentrated on fund raising, with the result, the newspaper said, that Boys Town is bringing in millions, while there is no plan for spending the money.

In addition to donations, the newspaper said, Boys Town receives public funds from at least three state and two federal programs, amounting to perhaps $200,000 a year.

The newspaper said the income from Boys Town's $162-million investment portfolio brings in more than enough each year to meet the cost of operating the home, including the school, counseling services and all related activities.

Roman Catholic Archbishop Daniel E. Sheehan of Omaha, whose clerical office makes him the chief officer of the institution, said that the fund raising continues because "we are not sure what the cost will be in operating an institutional type of home in the future," the Sun reported.

The newspaper said it drew much of its financial information from a statement the non-profit corporation must file with the Internal Revenue Service under the Tax Reform Act of 1969.

Vandalism Losses Are Uncertain

Sedalia police are investigating several incidents of theft and vandalism reported over the weekend.

William H. Walker, 224 East Walnut, told police Saturday that some time between 6:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. that day someone had pried the hasp off a storage shed at his residence. However, he could not determine what, if anything, was missing.

At 4:28 p.m. Saturday police received a report that a window pane on the west door of Washington School had been broken. The report was made by Carlene and Paula Bass, 522 South Washington, who were playing ball on the playground at the school. It was not known if anything was taken from the school.

At 9 a.m. Saturday, Anna Ray, 600 West Henry, told police that a purse containing $17 and valuable papers had been taken from 412 West Johnson, the home of Alma Beaver. Police are investigating two leads in the case.

Jerry Shahan, 900 South Marshall, told police that a hit-and-run accident had occurred at the Clark Service Station, Broadway and Kentucky, about 2:38 p.m. Saturday. A car that had pulled into the station backed into an oil can rack, damaging the rack and several cans of oil. Police were given the license number of the car and are investigating the incident. No damage estimate was made.

Four Hurt In Traffic Accidents

Four persons complained of injuries after two separate accidents Saturday and Sunday and three of them were treated and released from Bothwell Hospital.

The first accident, at 8:09 p.m. Saturday, occurred at 20th and Limit and involved three cars, all headed south. They were a 1970 Plymouth driven by John Edward Smith, 20, Smithton; a 1967 Mercury driven by Ernest Dean Keele, 17, 2003 South Warren; and a 1970 Ford driven by Janice K. Funk, 21, Windsor.

Keele, Miss Funk and Glenda K. Smith, 15, a passenger in the Funk vehicle, were taken to the hospital, treated for apparently minor injuries and released.

According to police reports, the Plymouth and Mercury were stopped in traffic when the Ford collided with them. Damage to all three vehicles was listed as extensive.

The second accident occurred at 9:25 p.m. Sunday in the 100 block on West 16th when a 1972 Suzuki motorcycle operated by Kenneth Homer Stewart, 18, 412 East Sixth, went out of control after crossing what police said was chocolate milk spilled on the pavement. The motorcycle overturned. Hospital records do not show that Stewart sought treatment there.

The fire department was notified to wash down the street, according to police records.

Says Nixon Hopeful On Arms Accord

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today in a film presentation at the annual meeting of The Associated Press that President Nixon hopes to be able to sign a strategic arms limitation agreement with the Soviet Union when he visits Moscow next month.

Halting the flow of Soviet arms to North Vietnam also will be discussed during the President's Moscow trip, Rogers said, although, "we have no reason to think they will" do so.

"We can't tell how extensive these discussions will be," he added. "To some extent it depends on the Soviet leaders."

Outlining Nixon's objectives in the Soviet capital, Rogers said:

"We hope, for example, that we will have a SALT (strategic arms limitation) agreement that is in the stage where we could possibly sign an agreement at that time."

"We have been making some progress in those talks, as you know, and the President hopes that we can culminate those talks when we are in Moscow."

The principal speaker at the annual luncheon of The AP, in the Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, was C. Jackson Grayson Jr., chairman of the federal Price Commission.

The AP members voted for six new directors to fill expiring terms on the news service's 18-man board.

Lawmakers Beginning Last Week

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — With budget bills out of the way, the Missouri Legislature went into its final week today with some major issues still pending.

Work on bills has to end next Sunday. The Senate was scheduled to resume work at 2 p.m. today and the House at 4 p.m.

Senate leaders are driving toward action on a revised version of a constitutional amendment to reorganize the executive department—the so-called "Little Hoover" plan.

It is ninth down on the Senate's docket of bills for debate and if the revamped version gets by the Senate, it would still have to be considered by the House.

Also high on the Senate list is a House-passed bill to lower the blood alcohol content from .15 of 1 per cent to .10 of 1 per cent for a driver to be considered intoxicated. The Senate passed a similar bill earlier.

Far down the Senate list is the so-called "sunshine bill" to require open meetings for public bodies. The Senate Judiciary Committee changed the bill drastically and if it should be reached in the final days, it would still require House action.

Fined on Charge

Anthony J. Blaschke, 17, of 1320 State Fair Blvd., charged with illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, was fined $50 in Magistrate Court Monday morning.

The charges stem from an incident in Sedalia March 31, it was reported.

Aging Session Set Wednesday At Higginsville

An all day session of the Show-Me Regional post-White House Conference will be held Wednesday at the Salem United Church of Christ, Higginsville, according to local Salvation Army Officials.

The 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. session is open to all interested individuals seeking a better understanding of the problems of the aged, as well as an interest in becoming involved in overcoming such problems on a local level, according to Maj. Marjorie Weber of the Salvation Army.

The goal of the Conference is to coordinate programs to meet the needs of older residents in the three county Show-Me region, as well as to provide feedback on recommendations made at the recent White House Conference on Aging, Maj. Weber said.

Morning and afternoon work sessions are planned on income, education, health, housing, nutrition, transportation and retirement. Small group discussions are also scheduled, Maj. Weber said.

Need Reported For Housewares, Clothes

Some of the families moving into the public housing units are in need of furniture, cribs, beds, dishes and other household articles, according to a spokesman for Sedalia's Poverty Action Corps.

Poverty Action Corps is an inter-church effort to help needy area families. Persons interested in donating articles may call 826-8906 or 827-1089.

In a related concern, the Salvation Army is in need of used clothing again, according to Maj. M. A. Weber. She said donations would be received at the Salvation Army 120 East Fifth, or in-town pickups could be arranged by calling 826-1525. She said the regular pickup day is Monday.

Tom Miller

Republican Seeks Post Of Recorder

A Republican has joined the race for Pettis County recorder. Tom Miller, 39, Route 4, Monday morning filed for the position which is being sought by three Democrats — Mrs. Naomi Brown, 2005 South Harrison, who is serving the unexpired term of Reno Johnson; Ivan Grimes, 417 East 15th; and Carl Walker, 1001 South Marshall.

Miller told The Democrat-Capital that he is seeking the recorder's position because he would "like to see the office run in an efficient and friendly manner." He added that he would like to use his "spare time for youth in Pettis County because these are trying times."

Miller, who is a Missouri-Pacific locomotive foreman sought the county collector's position in 1970.

Miller served in the Navy for four years during the Korean conflict. He is a member of the First United Methodist Church, Granite Lodge 272, Eastern Star 57, American Legion Post 16, State Fair Saddle Club, Mark Twain PTA, and Georgetown Community Club.

He is a 1950 graduate of Smith-Cotton High School.

He and his wife Carolyn have two children — Denise, 8, and Joe, 5.

Rollbacks Announced By Commission

NEW YORK (AP) — The Price Commission will order hundreds of millions of dollars in price rollbacks and customer refunds in the next few weeks, its chairman announced today.

Chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr. said the reason is that the commission's limit on profit margins in beginning to take hold as a second line of defense against inflation.

Grayson, speaking of the matter publicly for the first time in remarks for the annual meeting of The Associated Press, said he hopes the announcement will help rally public opinion behind controls.

"In a very few words I would like to inform you that beginning late last week, the Price Commission inaugurated a series of major actions which will result in hundreds of millions of dollars of price reductions, which will roll back current prices of some of the country's largest companies to their base-period levels."

Meanwhile, Donald Rumsfeld, director of the Cost of Living Council, told automobile manufacturers not to expect approval of large price increases.

In a speech prepared for the Economic Club of Detroit, Rumsfeld said steel companies' hold-the-price-line pledge "is a significant step in the effort to reduce inflation, a step which should be reflected in the prices of 1973 model cars ...

Grayson explained that the rollbacks and customer refunds will result from orders based on a Commission ruling that has attracted little public notice.

This rule, in addition to the commission's basic dictate that any price hikes must be justified by cost increases, says that price increases cannot be so large as to raise the profit portion of each sales dollar above the average for the best two of the past three years.

Grayson said now that large companies—those with more than $50 million in yearly sales—are beginning to file required quarterly reports, this profit-margin rule is starting to have effect.

Recently, the Price Commission ordered two firms to roll back prices because of inflated profits. Grayson has said that based on first reports, perhaps 10 per cent of America's large businesses would be required to roll back prices for this reason. His announcement today that the rollbacks would amount to hundreds of millions was his first such statement.

He noted that in past months the commission has been accused by its critics of being ineffective or pro-business.

"As what I've outlined here today may indicate, we are not pro-business," he said. "Nor are we antibusiness, either. We're simply, and implacably, anti-inflation."

Thailand's Army Big Disappointment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite years of U.S. aid and advice, Thailand's army has disappointed American military officials by its performance in a major test against Communist-led insurgents.

An analysis of an operation by 12,000 Thai troops against an estimated 600 rebels in north-central Thailand concluded that government forces exhibited lack of aggressiveness and poor training.

In addition, Thai commanders were criticized for using their troops in big, unwieldy formations and for inadequate use of combat intelligence.

As a result, Thai military leaders were said to have decided that new tactics and methods will have to be developed.

Thailand long has been regarded by U.S. defense officials as important to the anti-Communist position in Southeast Asia.

It has become more important to U.S. strategy in recent years because most of the Air Force B52 bombers and fighters-bombers flown against the enemy in North and South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia operate from bases in Thailand. Most of the 34,000 American military men in Thailand are involved in the air war.

In the past five years, the United States has provided about $500 million in military aid to improve and modernize the Thai armed forces. About 525 U.S. advisers and trainers, including Green Berets, are working with the Thai forces.

The American advisers are under orders to stay out of any fighting between Thai units and insurgents inside Thailand, U.S. officials say.

Starting in late January, the Thai command sent an army division, five artillery battalions and warplanes against in-surgers holed up in a mountain stronghold in the vicinity of Phitsanulok.

According to U.S. estimates, government forces suffered more than 70 killed and 270 wounded in the weeks-long operation. The insurgents, described in U.S. reports as Communist-led hill tribesmen, lost at least seven killed.

U.S. and Thai officials for years have been concerned that the insurgents in Thailand's northeast and north-central regions, adjoining Laos, would become a major threat if the Indochina war went against the anti-Communist side.

The war has come closer to Thailand's borders in the last two years with the outbreak of fighting in Cambodia and North Vietnamese advances in northern and southern Laos.

Hanoi has warned Thailand in recent months to stop supporting Laotian government forces, a move apparently aimed at pressing Bangkok to pull back an estimated 5,000 Thai troops fighting with the Royal Lao army.

Here's a capsule summary of the accomplishments in man's fifth moon landing:

Finding of rocks believed formed by the volcanoes which shaped the early moon.

Most rocks gathered on moon — A total 245 pounds, or 30 pounds more than the first three moon landings combined and 76 pounds more than Apollo 15.

Longest total hours exploring the moon's surface—20 hours, 14 minutes—and longest single excursion—moon drive II which lasted 7 hours, 23 minutes.

Fastest lunar speed on wheels—11 miles per hour in the rover during the third excursion.

First landing in the moon's highlands. The other landings were in maria, or plains, areas of the moon.

Largest single rock collected on the moon. The astronauts are bringing home a small boulder weighing 40 pounds.

Largest lunar crater ever visited, North Ray, three-quarters of a mile wide and 600 feet deep.

First major lunar surface experiment to fail. A power cord to the heat flow experiment was broken, ruining the device, while it was being deployed.

Outdoor Art Show Is Set By Society

(Democrat-Capital Service)

WARRENSBURG — The second annual Outdoor Art Show, sponsored by the Four County Art Society, will be held from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. May 6 in the North Park Shopping Center here, it was learned recently.

Primarily featuring work by members of the Society, any artist may enter the show by delivering his work (including paintings, sculpture and crafts) to the TG&Y Store here between 3 and 7 p.m. May 5. A small fee is charged for work shown by non-members.

Last year's show drew viewers from a large area who saw 280 works of art shown by 56 artists from the Four County area. Sedalians may obtain more information about the show from Mrs. Myrna Ragar, president of the Sedalia Art Society and vice-president of the Four County Society.

Broadway Gives Awards For Outstanding Effort

NEW YORK (AP) — "Sticks and Bones" and "Two Gentlemen of Verona." Broadway shows written by newcomers, swept top honors for an exciting finale to the 26th annual Tony Awards ceremony before a star-studded audience.

The top drama was "Sticks and Bones," written by 31-year-old Vietnam veteran David Rabe. "Two Gentlemen," written by John Guare and Mel Shapiro, was named the best musical.

The top acting awards for musical performance presented during Sunday night's ceremony went to Alexis Smith of "Follies" and Phil Silvers, who arrived just two weeks ago in a revival of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum."

Cliff Gorman of "Lenny" and Sada Thompson of "Twigs" garnered the top drama acting prizes.

Supporting musical awards went to Larry Blyden, also in "Forum," and to Linda Hopkins, who appeared in "Inner City," which closed three months ago.

In the drama supporting categories the winners were Vincent Gardenia of "The Prisoner of Second Avenue" and Elizabeth Wilson of "Sticks and Bones."

"Sticks and Bones" is the story of a blinded soldier returning home from the war to his family. "Two Gentlemen" is a lighthearted romp through the Shakespeare comedy. It moves to rock and Latin American beats and blues type jazz. Guare and Shapiro shared a Tony for their book.

The honors for the two shows were a double victory for the lively theatrical organization headed by Joseph Papp. He originally produced both shows—off Broadway.

"Follies," a musical that opened a year ago but was eligible for consideration now under Tony deadline regulations, won seven silver medallions in the 18 competitive categories, the most for a single production.

By coincidence the ceremonies took place on the 408th anniversary of Shakespeare's birth. His posthumous assist to 1972 creativity was the only overseas tinge amid all the presentations. For the first time in many years all the awards were won by Americans.

Tony recipients in other competitive categories were: musical score, Stephen Sondheim, "Follies;" musical director, Harold Prince and Michael Bennett, jointly, "Follies;" choreographer, Bennett, "Follies;" play director, Mike Nichols, "The Prisoner of Second Avenue." Three other "Follies" awards were to Boris Aronson, scenic design; Florence Klotz, costumes; and Tharon Musser, lighting.

Special awards for distinguished accomplishment through long careers were presented to musical star Ethel Merman and composer Richard Rodgers, both of whom participated in quick-tempo reprises of conspicuous triumphs. Harold Prince got a medallion citation on behalf of "Fiddler on the Roof," which on June 17 becomes the longest running show in Broadway history. Also honored was the Theater Guild-American Theater Society which supervises subscription bookings for shows on tour.

Police Speculate On Youths' Deaths

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Police speculate that two Chicago youths shot in the head Saturday as they rode south on a piggy-back railroad flat car were wounded by hunters.

Ralph Johnson, 17, was reported in critical condition and in intensive care at Wesley Medical Center in Wichita Sunday night. The shooting occurred near Cassoday and the youths, along with two companions, had to wait two hours until the train stopped here before they could get help.

The other injured youth, Christopher P. Duerr, 18, was in satisfactory condition at Arkansas City Memorial Hospital. He was reported absent without leave from Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

Police said the pair and two companions, Leon Fabizak, 17, and Patrick Kilcoyne, 16, got on the train in Kansas City, after leaving Chicago earlier. They said they were en route to San Antonio, Tex.

FOOD & FIBER NEWS

University of Missouri Extension Centers
Henry - Johnson - Lafayette - Pettis

Horn flies and face flies will soon be pestering cattle. By starting early, you can prevent the fly population from building up to excessive numbers.

Now is the time to clean out the barns and loafing sheds and spread the manure, old bedding material, rotten silage, etc. in the fields. Piling it up around the farmstead only serves to attract more flies.

If you plan on using backrubbers or oilers, decide where to locate them so the cattle will use them regularly, get them set up and in good working order. Get your supply of insecticide and fuel oil.

If you plan on spraying your cattle on a regular basis during the summer, now is the time to make sure that your sprayer is clean and in good operating condition. Get your supply of insecticide.

If you are going to use dust bags, decide where you will locate them so that the cattle will use them regularly. Get your supply of insecticide and start the animal's using them shortly.

Pruning Trees

Maple trees can be pruned at any time during the year. Pruning in late winter and early spring will cause a great deal of "bleeding." This is not harmful to the tree but is unsightly.

If pruning is for shaping effect, it is best done when leaves are out to assure the desired results.

Cuts over one inch in diameter should be treated with an asphalt varnish containing chemicals that will prevent attacks by harmful insects and disease.

Wet Basement

The first step to take in drying out a wet basement is to use a dehumidifier. If there is not water coming through the walls or floor, a dehumidifier is all that should be necessary and this used only during the summer months. When a dehumidifier is in use, the basement should be closed tightly so that the more moist air outside cannot enter and replace the drier air inside.

When such leakage occurs, the outside air is cooled as it enters the basement, raising the relative humidity. This overworks the dehumidifier and raises expenses for the owner.

However, if the wet basement is due to actual water leakage, grading around the house to drain the water away and placing tile around the footing should be considered as the next step to take.

Pasturing of Wheat

"How late in the spring can wheat be pastured and still produce a minimum yield of grain?" This is a question coming from many livestock men.

Wheat that has not been pastured, should not be pastured in April.

In normal seasons, wheat can be pastured until mid-April without any significant reduction in yield. If the wheat makes a slow start in growth because of late cold weather or a shortage of moisture, any spring pasturing may cut yields somewhat.

On the other hand, if early vigorous growth is made, pasturing as late as May 1st may not reduce yields significantly. Such late pasturing may be justified where pastures are backward and hay supplies are low.

Recognize Termites

Reproductive adult termites have yellow-brown to black bodies and two pair of long, whitish, opaque wings of equal size. They differ from the reproductive forms of true ants which have two pair of transparent wings of equal size. Termites have thick waistlines. In contrast, ants, which are often mistaken for termites, have thin waistlines.

Large number of winged reproductive termites emerging or swarming from the soil or wood may be the first indication of the presence of a termite colony. The presence of their discarded wings often are found on the floor beneath doors or windows where termites have emerged within a building and have been unable to escape. They are attracted by strong light and they gather about windows or doors. Pairs of these reproductive termites try to return to the soil to find a suitable location for starting a new colony.

If you should suddenly find termites in your home, do not become alarmed and think treatment is necessary tomorrow. Select a reputable exterminator or look yourself to determine the extent of damage and locations of the colony. Take your time — don't panic. You may pick up a good bulletin on the prevention and control of termites in buildings at the University Extension Center, 5th and Lamine.

Your Time

You might be worth $25 an hour today. Or maybe only 90 cents. Possibly nothing. The value of time depends on what it earns and whether it is being used in its highest paying alternative. If you are planting corn, you may be earning that $25 per hour.

If you are repairing your planter on a day when you should be planting, you may be earning only the $4 an hour a mechanic might earn. And the $21 difference is a loss. On the other hand — if you repaired the planter on a day when you couldn't farm, and when you had no other chores, you raised the value of your labor from nothing to $4 per hour.

Doing the right job at the right time with the right labor and equipment tends to make sense. And it pays well. If you plan your work — schedule it carefully — to use every day as productively as possible, you will find your farm income increases.

In planning your work schedule — be reasonable. Don't forget weather and other factors can change plans. Don't underestimate the importance of planning some time with your family, including a vacation.

Discuss Plans

Russel McFatrish, Route 1, chairman of the food and fiber Extension Program Planning Committee, is shown as he directs a question to members of his group. Facing the camera, at left, is Harvey Bredehoeft, Blackburn, and, center, C. W. Browning, Show-Me Area Extension director. McFatrish's group is one of eight formed to assist the Extension Center.

Form New Study Groups

Russel McFatrish, Route 1, and Mrs. Emmett Bohon Jr., 321 East 13th, have been named chairman of two of eight groups that were formed recently to help the Show-Me Area Extension Center develop a long-range responsive and relevant area extension program.

C. W. Browning, Area Extension director for programs covering Henry, Johnson, Lafayette and Pettis Counties, recently requested the assistance of a steering committee of 32 persons for this purpose.

Steering Committee Chairman is Joe Sims, Clinton, manager of the Chamber of Commerce there, and Lynn Harmon, vice-chairman, Warrensburg, is vice-president of the Citizens Bank.

Eight areas of interest from present programs are being used as points of departure for planning purposes, Browning said. The areas and their chairmen are: food and fiber (agriculture), McFatrish; youth, Bill Ragland, Clinton; home economics, Mrs. Bohon; community development, C. L. Summers, Lexington; business, industry and labor, Glenn Stahl, Kingsville; environmental quality, Mrs. Lambert Stuenkel, Corder; continuing education, the Rev. John Bush, Clinton; special needs, Gerald Culp, Warrensburg.

According to Browning, tentative plans call for each of these interest areas to be formed into subcommittees to "involve additional leaders and interested persons in identifying the problems of people, exploring opportunities for the Extension effort and make recommendations for priorities for future Extension activity."

Browning added that the planning process may take several weeks to complete, but that a written report would be made public after these initial activities are concluded.

New Loans Offered Under FHA Section

The Sedalia office of the Farmers Home Administration has announced a new loan program to help home-owners accomplish necessary repairs, especially the elderly.

Fred Huhman, FHA county supervisor, said Section 504 loans may be made up to $3,500, with 1 per cent interest payable over 10 years. To qualify for a loan, persons must be unable to provide repairs from their own resources or other credit, he said.

The FHA office is located in the Federal Building.

'Blackspot' Rose's Big Enemy

Roses continue to be one of the most popular garden flowers. An early start in caring for them is essential for a season of abundant bloom.

Few insects or diseases are a serious problem on roses. Generally, the most harmful is blackspot, an easily recognized fungus disease.

Its name describes it well. Usually the lower leaves are first to develop black spots, about the size of a common nail head. If several spots occur on a leaflet it yellows and drops.

The disease progresses during the summer until the plant loses most of its leaves. Defoliation weakens the plant, making it more easily damaged during the winter or under other unfavorable conditions. Blackspot is especially bad in wet seasons.

Several steps are necessary for good control. They begin with cleanliness.

The disease is carried over from year to year on fallen leaves and on the canes of the plants. Elimination of all fallen rose leaves, and pruning to remove cankers on the canes will reduce the sources of infection and slow its spread.

The disease infects the leaves when they are wet. Therefore, avoid wetting leaves when watering plants. Also, do not water late in the afternoon or evening. Water does not evaporate rapidly then and will stand on the leaves for long periods. Locate roses where they get early morning sun so dew will dry off the leaves as soon as possible.

A regular spray program with a good fungicide is also necessary to eliminate the problem. Phaltan, zineb, or captan have been used for control. Weekly applications, beginning early in the growing season, have been necessary.

A new fungicide, benomyl, has given excellent results in controlling this disease. Application is needed only every 10 to 14 days. Benomyl is well worth trying.

Most modern roses are selected for disease resistance as well as growth and flower form. The All-America Rose Selections, a non-profit organization, tests new varieties at 23 locations throughout the United States. Tests are made to determine which roses to recommend to the public.

The organization's new booklet, "Roses Are for You," is free. For a copy, write to All-America Rose Selections, P.O. Box 218, Shenandoah, Iowa, 51601. The two selections for 1972 were hybrid tea roses Apollo, a soft yellow, and Portrait, a radiant pink.

Many roses are sold dormant with bare roots. When unwrapped, roots should be inspected for drying.

Soak plants in water several hours but not more than 24 hours. Plant as soon as possible. Keep roots moist at all times.

If roses cannot be planted immediately, moisten the packing material and keep plants in a cool place. Do not hold more than two or three days.

While bare-root roses should be planted early in spring, those purchased in pots may be planted much later. The latter can easily be held in pots outdoors until a convenient planting time.

A good start with proper drainage, fertility, and pest control will insure abundant flowers for many years.

Former Priest, Nun Give Wedding Vows

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — A former Roman Catholic priest and nun who were granted dispensation from their vows were married at a Mass in Omaha Saturday.

About 200 persons attended the wedding of Lawrence Mullins, 38, who was chancellor of the Catholic Diocese of Davenport, Iowa, until last year, and Lisa Marie Staebell, 34, who was permitted to leave the Sisters of the Humility of Mary in 1971.

Mullins is the son of the late Larry "Moon" Mullins, former football coach at colleges in Iowa and Kansas.

Concelebrants of the Mass Holy Family Church were the Rev. Francis Henricksen, director of communications for the Catholic Diocese of Davenport, and the Rev. Marvin Mottet, diocesan social action department director.

Mullins suffered a heart attack about a year ago and did not resume his priestly duties after he was stricken.

He was granted dispensation from his vows so he could be married in the church. The process took about nine months.

Before the ceremony, an Omaha priest said the couple did not want to be interviewed by newsmen.

"Everything is fine now," he said. "All they want is a nice little family ceremony and to be left alone."

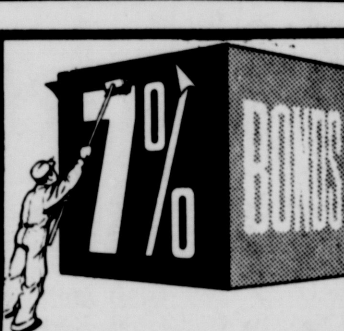

After the ceremony, the couple walked through the church and personally greeted most of the guests.

The bride, a native of Dunlap, Iowa, wore an ankle-length red brocade dress.

Since leaving the order, she has worked as an administrator at a hospital.

The wedding was attended by the bridegroom's mother and the parents of the bride. Also attending were several priests and nuns who were friends of the couple.

As chancellor of the Davenport Diocese, Mullins served as chief administrator under the bishop.

Fierce Battleground in Central Highlands

PLEIKU, Vietnam (AP) — South Vietnam's rolling, unpopulated central highlands used to be a war theater where neither side tried very hard to win, an "economy of force" war in military terms. Until Sunday night.

Then 20 North Vietnamese tanks roared in along a dirt road from Laos. Heavy artillery guns opened up from hidden mountain positions. A South Vietnamese division headquarters was engulfed and overrun.

Americans and South Vietnamese in Pleiku, the highlands capital, have for weeks been forecasting that the major drive of the current general offensive would come here.

"The enemy actions at Quang Tri and An Loc are limited. He wants Kontum, Pleiku and Binh Dinh provinces and will try for them soon," argued the senior American adviser for the region, John Paul Vann.

Saigon was slow to get the message. Government forces have always been extremely thin in the highlands. In Kontum Province the two regiments of the 22nd Infantry Division had been beefed up earlier in the year with a division of airborne troops. But when the Communist offensive began across the demilitarized zone three weeks ago, President Nguyen Van Thieu tried to take the airborne from the highlands and send them north.

"We fought like hell to keep them here," one senior American said. "Saigon was not interested in us. They thought it was the same war up here, the economy of force war, and that the enemy objectives were limited."

It took the loss of the coastal district of Hoai An, and three fire bases on "Rocket Ridge" above Kontum last week, to get Saigon's joint general staff really interested in what was happening.

The air over Pleiku got thick with generals in helicopters. U.S. Air Force transports swarmed through the skies with supplies, recalling the huge American buildup in the highlands in 1966-67.

But American military advisers in the Kontum area say it's all too late and too little.

"We will just have to get used to the idea of losing a lot more territory," commented an American major wounded early last week. "The other side obviously means business, and there is little we can or will do about it."

Hanoi has amassed a powerful force in Kontum, twice as big as anything sent there in the past, according to American intelligence assessments.

Two full North Vietnamese infantry divisions, the 2nd and the 320th, are aimed at the Dak To valley, Highway 14 and Kontum, assisted by two independent regiments of infantrymen, an artillery regiment and a sapper regiment.

This means 15,000 men backed by tanks and heavy artillery threatening Kontum.

The Hanoi battle plan goes far beyond Kontum. Senior Americans have expressed amazement at its boldness. It apparently calls for isolating the cities in the highlands by cutting the highway arteries, then taking the airstrips under direct fire. The ultimate aim seems to be to defeat Saigon on the highlands battlefield and capture major cities.

Step One was to take the An Khe pass and cut Route 19 between the coastal supply bases and Pleiku and Kontum. North Vietnamese forces did that two weeks ago and have not budged from the pass. Americans believe the enemy will soon cut the secondary route to the highlands, Highway 21 from Nha Trang.

Step Two is to slice up the region some more, cutting

Outing Becomes Tragedy

CENTREVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A Sunday outing turned into tragedy when five persons drowned in a boating mishap at the lake of Frank Holten State Park near East St. Louis, Ill.

Three of the victims were children and one was a man who swam toward them in a rescue attempt. A passerby was able to save two occupants of the 12-foot boat by throwing a rope to them.

State police said the boat was designed to carry three persons but had six in it. It began taking water about 75 feet from shore and then submerged.

The victims included: Tina Summers, 12, of East St. Louis; a neighbor, Teresa Cantrell, 9; Cynthia White, 9, who lived at the MacArthur Hotel in St. Louis; Charles A. Funley, 30, a resident of the same hotel and Fremont Clayton, Jr., 48, a maintenance man at the hotel who owned the boat. He drowned while swimming out to save the others.

The two saved are Paul White, 45, father of one of the victims drowned, and Cynthia Summers, 13, whose sister, Tina, also drowned. They were rescued by William Walsh, 24, of East St. Louis who stopped his auto and grabbed a rope from the trunk.

However, two important factors could change this picture radically. The performances of Saigon's regular forces in the region have been spotty at best. There have been frequent reports of infantry battalions fleeing in panic. At Hoai An District the defenders threw away their weapons and changed into civilian clothes. A panic among the remaining forces in Kontum could bring disaster.

The second factor is the endurance of the North Vietnamese. Hanoi has been preparing this drive for at least two years.

Effort To Combine Studios Is Working

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "It'll never work," said the movie oldtimers when Columbia and Warner Brothers announced last August that they would combine facilities into one studio.

But it is working, says Robert Hagel, the man in charge of merging the two movie giants. "We're ahead of schedule and, knock on wood, under budget," he adds.

The combining of Warner Brothers and Columbia was unprecedented. For almost a half-century, the two companies, like every other major producer, maintained their own fully staffed studios. With production at a low ebb, the old system was in drastic need of revamping.

Hagel, who had been in charge of facilities and operations at Columbia, was chosen for the same capacity with Burbank Studios, the new name for the Warner Brothers lot.

"Both Columbia Pictures and Warner Brothers remain separate corporations, of course," remarked Hagel. "They formed Burbank Studios as another corporation, each owning half. The studios will be used not only by the two companies; we're actively seeking independent producers as well. We already have the 'Bonanza' company as a tenant."

After the August announcement, Hagel began preparing for the consolidation. The logistics of putting together two long-standing departments of each studio was the biggest problem, he said.

"Fortunately, some of the department heads were near or past the age of retirement," said Hagel. "In some cases, one department head agreed to become an assistant at the new studio. Very few people got hurt." He added that the unions "have by and large been very cooperative."

Hagel himself seems a symbol of the new Hollywood. He wears mod clothes, full beard and ample hair and operates from an office decorated in early psychedelic, with posters of old movies and rock music. He used modern methods in performing the merger, employing computers and planning the move "like the invasion of Normandy."

The consolidation began in January and was completed in 60 days. All but the production staff and producers have moved into Burbank. They await completion of two office buildings in July.

The Columbia ranch, a maze of small stages and outdoor sets a mile from Burbank studios, will continue in use until December. Then it will be phased out. "Our own lot should be big enough to accommodate all our needs," said Hagel. He cited the building of a huge Shangri-la on the Burbank lot for "Lost Horizon," the first Columbia movie to be made there.

"The savings with the new operation are enormous," said Hagel, "particularly in fixed costs, real estate taxes, insurance, land costs and building maintenance."

Pick Two Women For Convention

WARRENSBURG, Mo. (AP) — Two women have been elected delegates to the national Republican convention from Missouri's 4th congressional district.

Jean Jones of Harrisonville and Kate Powell of Higginsville were elected by a group of 150 party members here Saturday.

Chosen as alternates were Bill Burch of Bates County and Flor Summers of Independence. Ray Barrows of Appleton City was elected to the electoral college.

Authorities identified the man as Pvt. Jack Trenfro, Orlando, Calif., who was listed as absent without official leave in November. He was dropped from the Army rolls Dec. 7 and declared a deserter.

A retired Army sergeant, Martin Jury, Lansing, Kan., found the body.

Scientists Acclaim Apollo

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Scientists are acclaiming Apollo 16's mission to the Descartes highlands where the astronauts collected rocks believed formed by the fiery volcanoes that shaped the early moon.

"We have little doubt they've looked at examples of the early volcanic processes that formed the highlands," said Dr. William Muehlberger, head of the Apollo 16 geology investigation team.

Moreover, man now has a fourth nuclear-powered geophysics station on the moon returning satisfactory data about moonquakes and the lunar magnetic field.

The major blight upon the mission achieving its scientific goals occurred, however, when

John W. Young stumbled while erecting the station and tore loose a cable to the heat flow experiment. The experiment, critical to learning about heat still in the lunar interior, couldn't be repaired.

"If it hadn't been for the heat flow cable breaking, we'd have a perfect mission even though we had to cut the third EVA (moonwalk) short," said Dr. Fred Horz, a Manned Spacecraft Center geologist who helped train Young and Charles M. Duke.

Apollo 16 went to the lunar highlands because they were believed to be much older than the flat lunar maria or seas that are filled with volcanic flows. Tantalizing bits of quite old lunar rocks had been found in the maria, apparently thrown there from the highlands.

The Descartes Mountains, two of which Young and Duke visited during their lunar exploration, are believed to have formed by lava upwelling from within the moon.

At about the same time, or perhaps slightly later, a great storm of meteorites pelted the moon. They created sheets of finely ground up lunar material that flowed across the moon, perhaps at speeds of several hundred miles an hour. The sheets, which weren't molten, settled into the basins between the volcanic mountains.

These "fluidized sheets" formed the Cayley formation, the plains on which the lunar lander Orion set down.

Here, however, some of the geologists differ. A few believe the Cayley formation originated from molten lava flows instead of the fluidized sheets.

The matter probably will be resolved in laboratories when the 245 pounds of rocks collected are analyzed.

While Young and Duke prowled the highlands, crewmate Thomas K. Mattingly II orbited the moon in the command ship Casper manning a battery of instruments remotely surveying the lunar surface.

Suicide Is Ruled In Soldier Death

FT. RILEY, Kan. (AP) — Officials have ruled suicide in the death of a soldier found hanging from a tree in a wooded area on the military post.

Authorities identified the man as Pvt. Jack Trenfro, Orlando, Calif., who was listed as absent without official leave in November. He was dropped from the Army rolls Dec. 7 and declared a deserter.

A retired Army sergeant, Martin Jury, Lansing, Kan., found the body.

STEEL AGAINST POLYSTEEL
Here's the Custom Power Cushion Polysteel tire you've seen on TV, matched against dozens of vicious hardened-steel drill bits and the Goodyear Polysteel tire won!

POLYSTEEL

Here's steel cord belt strength with polyester cord smoothness, in a great long-wearing tire.

Goodyear builds it with two belts of steel cord for long-lasting resistance to impact and penetration. (You wouldn't run over steel drill bits the way we did here — but the demonstration illustrates how tough the steel belts really are.)

Then Goodyear makes the long mileage easy to take, with a flexible polyester cord body to soak up the shocks.

The brute strength of steel. The road-softening smoothness of polyester. Both in this superb new tire.

Hurry ... Trade Today — start riding on Polysteel tires.

'Godfather' Analogy to Vietnam War

WASHINGTON — People are very confused about what we are doing in Vietnam. I believe the simplest way to explain it is to try to think in terms of "The Godfather."

A few weeks ago Don Riccardo, the godfather, was sitting behind his desk at his closely guarded house at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. when his consigliere, Henrico, came in and kissed his hand.

Godfather, the Hanoichese family has just invaded the territory of the Saigonetti family."

"Basta," the godfather said. "I told the Hanoicheses to stay out of the Saigonetti territory or there would be all-out war."

"Yes, Godfather. I think we have to go to the mattresses."

"I want a meeting of our sub-capos in an hour," the godfather said.

An hour later the godfather sat at the conference table. He said, "The Hanoichese family has just violated an agreement we had about attacking the Saigonetti family. What do we do?"

"Godfather, we been backing the Saigonetti family for 10 years now. We give 'em weapons, we give 'em men, we give 'em know-how, we give 'em everything. I say we can't do no more. Why should we go to the mattresses again?"

A second sub-capo replied angrily. "That's a lot of linguini. We got to smash the Hanoicheses once and for all. We let them get away with this and our family will be the laughingstock of the world."

"He's right," a lieutenant said. "If the Hanoichese mob don't want peace, we are going to make them get down on their knees and beg for it. I say we put out the contract now."

"Wait a minute. Not so fast," another sub-capo said. "If we blast the Hanoichese territory, we going to have to deal with the Kremlinichios. Now the godfather has a meeting with the Kremlinichio family in May. What's going to happen to the meeting?"

The lieutenant said, "Everyone knows the Kremlinichio family is supplying the Hanoicheses with guns. We got to get the message to them that we're not going to sit around and let them walk all over us."

"Now wait a minute. Are we ready to go to war with the Kremlinichio family?"

"We ain't going to war with them. They know that all we're doing is protecting the Saigonetti family."

"Godfather," another sub-capo said, "there's a lot of unrest in our family over our commitment to the Saigonettis. Our boys have been bumped off and captured by the Hanoicheses. And nothing's changed. Many people in the family say we should get the hell out. If the Saigonettis can't defend themselves, we can't help them any more."

A tough lieutenant said, "I saw we go all-out. Give us the word, Godfather, and we'll hit them with everything."

Everyone looked at the godfather. He sipped a glass of wine. "Everyone knows I'm for peace. But everyone also knows I don't like to be pushed around. Now the godfather elections are coming up in November, and if I do something it could hurt my chances of being godfather again. But if I do nothing it could hurt my chances even more. Now I warned the Hanoicheses not to hurt my chances of being godfather again, but they saw fit to embarrass me. Gentlemen, this is not a question of the Hanoicheses and the Saigonettis. It's not even a question of our family and the Kremlinichios. It's a question of honor. I don't like my honor questioned during an election year. I say we go to the mattresses!"

The family jumped to their feet and shouted, "God bless the godfather!"

As each one walked out of the room, he kissed Don Riccardo's hand, and the godfather patted each of them on the head.

Aspects Of Sex Revolution

WASHINGTON — The sedate Midwestern father, a deacon in his church, was flabbergasted to learn that his daughter had moved out of the college dormitory into an apartment—with three male students.

The fortyish father was stunned when the 16-year-old dropped her granny gown to reveal a nude body and leaped into his swimming pool, his equally nude 17-year-old son then plunging into the pool with an air of nonchalance.

A generation ago a "trial marriage" was spoken of with moral indignation. These days it is not uncommon for a parent in a prominent, affluent family to say matter-of-factly to bridge clubbers: "Lucy has been living with this boy for three months. She says they have no intention of getting married."

Such incidents make a strong case for the contention that a "sexual revolution" has overtaken America's young people. There can be no doubt that today's teen-agers are more active sexually than at any time in history.

The amazing thing is that so few Americans are willing to face up to this reality and to deal with it and the repercussions that flow out of it.

The simple truth is that virgins are in short supply, and not terribly in demand, above the age of 15. One recent national survey showed 27 per cent of unmarried girls 15 to 19 admitting that they had had sexual relations. Allowing for the survival of a modicum of modesty, we can assume the actual figure is considerably larger.

The youngsters and a lot of adults dismiss this with the comment that "today's young people take a more honest, healthier attitude toward sex than their parents and grandparents did."

More honest? Perhaps. Healthier? That's debatable.

For all our supposed changes of mores, a teen-age pregnancy still carries bleak physical, emotional and social prospects for both mother and child—especially if the girl is not married. And note that the rate of out-of-wedlock births among teens increased by 250 per cent from 1940 to 1968, with almost 200,000 such births likely this year.

A conservative estimate is that more than 300,000 teen-agers have venereal disease.

Pregnancy is the No. 1 cause of dropouts among girls in high school.

The suicide rate for teen-age mothers is 10 times that of the general population. The babies of unwed teen-age mothers are more likely to be premature and mentally retarded, or to die within the first year. The babies who live, if born out of wedlock, will still be regarded by this society as socially, morally and legally inferior.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Dalmatians became fashionable as coach dogs in 18th-century England and in the late 1800s became popular mascots of American firemen. The World Almanac notes that Dalmatians are greatly at ease around horses and wheeled vehicles but, with the advent of motor vehicles, they are now mainly kept as watchdogs and have often been cited for saving lives.

Local Youth Caucus Enters the System

A youthful breeze appears to be stirring through the Democratic County Committee, long dominated by party regulars. But it remains to be seen how significant a factor this will be in picking candidates and formulating party platforms.

The phenomenon was evident at two recent Democratic ward conventions, in which young people captured several seats to the county convention. Youth strength was especially evident in the First Ward, where eight of 17 delegates elected are under 25.

In the Fourth Ward young people appeared to be less organized, but still took a fourth of the 12 convention seats. In East Sedalia they had little or no impact.

What binds these young Democrats together at this point is a strong allegiance to the candidacy of Sen. George McGovern for president. They speak sympathetically about McGovern's strong opposition to the Vietnam war and high defense spending, and his proposals to improve the environment.

Whether this ad hoc youth coalition will continue beyond the Democratic National Convention (especially if their standard-bearer does not get the nomination), is uncertain at this point, and the thinking of the local pro-McGovern faction beyond the nation election, down to county and local politics, has not been stated.

From the standpoint of hard political realism, we do not expect to see the rather conservative Democratic County Committee endorse McGovern for president. If this will mean a walkout by the young Democrats, or if instead they will remain to work within the system, is an open question, but one they should be prepared to consider.

Despite the potential for disappointment that faces the local youth caucus, we think it's a good thing that young people seem to be taking a hand in the political process, however tentative. That's what the 18-year-old vote amendment was all about.

Waning of Optimism About Hanoi Victory

By RAY CROMLEY NEA News Analyst

WASHINGTON (NEA) — One old Vietnamese friend, a guerrilla with Ho Chi Minh's forces in his younger days, has been pessimistic about the outcome of the war in all the years we've known each other.

Always the army was doing poorly. The political situation was deteriorating. The Communists were gaining strength. Hanoi would win in the end.

A few days ago, after the first two weeks of Communist victories, another letter arrived. Again full of pessimism. The South Vietnamese army lacks morale. The political situation is bad. Corruption is worse. The United States is wasting resources. American policies are not workable.

But, curiously, my friend had doubts in his mind, for the first time since I have known him, that the North Vietnamese would win the military victory.

"First," he said, "I would like to let you know that the Communist offensive ... will not lead to a collapse of the South Vietnamese army or the Saigon government."

This is undoubtedly the most optimistic statement my friend has ever made on the war.

His complaints in this letter are of a different order entirely ... that the war will take too long to win. But he no longer talks of defeat.

"I would like you to come here one more time to see and to realize what is the situation. It is not bad, you know, but I am very sorry that with all the aid that you give us, we cannot do the job better and defeat the Communists more quickly."

My friend wants the United States and South Vietnam to do a great deal more to build strong political parties and do more to bring a civilian democracy. All this is a far cry from the defeatism which has plagued my friend's thinking for the past eight years.

This change in thinking, which first showed itself after major Communist advances at a time when there were no South Vietnamese victories to point to, is in a way somewhat like the attitude of some of my other South Vietnamese friends after Tet-1968.

The losses at Tet seemed to create in these men and women a new sort of courage. The worst had come and they had not gone under. They had done badly at the beginning. But they had come back to fight—perhaps not efficiently, but fighting nevertheless.

They had learned the Viet Cong were not 10 feet tall—but, after all, men like themselves, who could fail.

This time they are up against the mainline North Vietnamese armies in full force. It was an invasion that in the back of their minds they had expected and feared. They did not know how they would react.

Now they have been hit with the actuality of the invasion, and they are surprised that they have done as well as they have. They did not expect miracles. And they have not gotten miracles. But they have found something more. Inefficient as their armies may be, they have not collapsed.

This is a new wonder the South Vietnamese will take time to get used to. For they have found that the North Vietnamese armies in all their might, like the Viet Cong, are not invincible either. They make mistakes like anyone else.

So now this is a new war ... with new hope.

Nearly one hundred Sedalia people have to date participated in the subscriptions to the stock of the proposed new Pettis County Bank and Trust Company, which is being formed by businessmen.

Oswald: "One of the main characteristics of a good bridge player is that he never gives up. He doesn't get all good results but when he gets a bad result he will always have given the hand the old college try."

Jim: "Today's hand is a good illustration. South was a great player. The game was match point duplicate and after East made the takeout double of North's two-spade bid, South wanted to find some way to get to play in four spades. He decided the best approach would be to pass."

Oswald: "South's strategy worked too well. Not only did he get to play in four spades, but he found himself doubled. He also saw very little play for his contract, but he worked it out with help from his opponents."

Jim: "He won the heart lead; entered dummy with a trump and led a club. East cashed two clubs and got out with a heart. South won; went over to dummy with a trump and led a low diamond. East did the best he could and played low, but South went up with his king and led a second diamond. West was in with the queen, and had to give South a ruff and discard—his contract."

Oswald: "South was lucky to find West with exactly queen and one diamond. He was even luckier when West failed to drop his queen under South's king in which case South's fine try would have just been a fine try, not a winner."

Into NBA Finals

Knicks Come Alive, 111-103

BOSTON (AP) — "We didn't panic," explained New York Knick forward Dave DeBusschere, "and that was the ball game."

Not only was it the ball game, but it also was the series.

The Knicks moved into the finals of the National Basketball Association playoffs Sunday after overcoming a 14-0 deficit and defeating the Boston Celtics 111-103, taking the Eastern Conference championship 4-1.

The Knicks will open the best-of-seven title series in Los Angeles Wednesday against the Western Conference champion Lakers.

"We had patience," said DeBusschere, who led the balanced New York attack with 24 points while grabbing 11 rebounds. "A lesser team at that point might have panicked. We pecked away, came back, and before you knew it we were within four or five points. Once we get there, we're back in the game."

The Celtics roared off to a 14-0 lead with 3:34 gone and looked like they were about to run the Knicks out of Boston Garden. New York did not get on the scoreboard until 3:45 when Bill Bradley scored on a lay-up. The Knicks fought back, however, thanks mostly to eight points by Jerry Lucas, and trailed only 27-23 at the end of the quarter.

"We just couldn't seem to get off the ground," said New York coach Red Holzman.

The Knicks, who played all but the first 1:46 of the second period without DeBusschere, who picked up his third personal foul, tied the game at 34-34 with 7:38 remaining in the half. The lead switched hands five times before the Celtics took over and moved out to a 55-50 advantage at intermission.

In the third quarter, however, DeBusschere took over, despite an early fourth personal foul, and scored 18 of his 24 points as the Knicks moved out to an 83-79 advantage.

The closest the Celtics could come after that was within three, 96-93, with 5:20 remaining in the game. DeBusschere then hit four free throws and Lucas one around a Don Nelson basket as the Knicks moved ahead 101-95 with 2:41 remaining. From that point on they never led by less than six.

Canadian Millionaire Buys Chicago Bulls

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The Chicago Bulls of the National Basketball Association have been sold to the operator of the San Diego Sports Arena, but the team will remain in Chicago for at least three years, it was reported today.

The San Diego Union said the buyer was Canadian millionaire Peter Grahame.

The purchase must be approved at Tuesday's meeting of the NBA finance committee.

McGlocklin Says Lakers 'Hungrier'

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks' National Basketball Association championship reign is over, but they aren't quite ready to concede they lost to a better team.

The Los Angeles Lakers may well have been the hungrier team, Bucks' guard Jon McGlocklin admitted. And no one could be craving the championship more than the Lakers' Jerry West, who never has savoring one in his brilliant 12-year career.

West had missed all seven of his shots in the third quarter Saturday. But he came back to score 12 points in the last 5½ minutes of the fourth period as the Lakers overcame a 10-point deficit and beat the Bucks 104-100 to clinch the Western Conference playoffs in six games.

The Lakers, who defeated Milwaukee eight times in 11 meetings this season, will meet the New York Knicks in the playoff finals starting Wednesday at Los Angeles.

"This time of year, all teams are great and the team that is hungriest is going to win," McGlocklin said. "I felt all along last year that we would win."

"I think the ability's here, but there was a completely different feeling to me as a player this year," he said.

Milwaukee beat Los Angeles in almost every category—except in victories.

The Bucks noted, however, they had been called for 147 fouls to the Lakers' 108, enabling Los Angeles to sink 150 of 219 free throws to the Bucks' 100 of 132 for the series.

West, a nearly 48-per-cent shooter during the regular season, sank only 47 of 135 shots for less than 35 per cent in the series.

Milwaukee's Kareem Abdul Jabbar led all-scorers with 37 points, but Chamberlain pressured him into missing 21 of 37 shots.

The victory, Shaw's first in his four years on the Professional Golfers Association tour, also earned him an automatic starting spot in the 1973 Tournament of Champions, played in California on the same days the open is played in Tallahassee.

"If someone had told me that on the 16th, I'd have blown it," Shaw quipped when he learned there are no defending champs in the Tallahassee event. He said he loves his new home of Tallahassee so much that he'd

The St. Louis Cardinals have apparently come up with a pitcher who is handy with the bat and the Kansas City Royals continue to be haunted by one-run defeats.

The Cardinal pitcher is Scipio Spinks. He got two hits, drove in a run and scored once in addition to tossing a five-hitter as St. Louis defeated the Expos 6-1 at Montreal Sunday. The Royals lost their third straight one-run game to the White Sox at Chicago 3-2.

Spinks struck out seven and walked five. He drove in Lou Brock for one of four eighth-inning runs. The Cards scored twice in the first on Ted Simmons' single, and that was enough for Spinks, 1-1.

Shortstop Bobby Floyd's error in the eighth inning gave throw past first in an attempt to complete a double play.

Floyd scored for the Royals in the second on Paul Schaal's double and a wild throw from the outfield. Bob Oliver drove in the other Kansas City run in the third with a single. Mike Hrdulka was charged with the defeat and is now 0-2.

James Dick Wins Blind Bogey Event

James Dick, 115 South Gentry, won the Blind Bogey Tournament Sunday at Walnut Hills Country Club.

Dick shot an 88, and with his 16-stroke handicap, his corrected score was 72. Seventy-two was the first number drawn out of the hat, giving Dick the $18 first-place gift certificate.

There was a four-way tie between Fred Doty, R. W. Phillips, Ray Warbritton and Sam Morton for second place. Each had 74's.

Larry Decker, Loy Holman, Bob Findland, Loy Richards and John Erickson ended up in a five-way tie for sixth place.

Forty-two players entered the tournament; the entire purse of $84 was returned to the winners.

The next event on the WHCC schedule is the Member-Guest Tournament, May 7. Entry deadline will be 7 p.m., May 4.

TONE, England (AP) — Emerson Fittipaldi of Brazil, whose car experienced steering problems while braking, held off a serious challenge from Jean Pierre Beltoise of France and won the Daily Express International Formula I auto race Sunday.

Fittipaldi finished just three seconds in front of Beltoise as he covered the 40 laps of 117 miles in 23 minutes, 42.7 seconds. His average speed was 131.19 miles per hour.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Bob Shaw picked up $15,000 Sunday by winning the Tallahassee Open golf tournament with a record-tying score of 273, but the transplanted Australian won't be back to defend his title next year.

The victory, Shaw's first in his four years on the Professional Golfers Association tour, also earned him an automatic starting spot in the 1973 Tournament of Champions, played in California on the same days the open is played in Tallahassee.

"If someone had told me that on the 16th, I'd have blown it," Shaw quipped when he learned there are no defending champs in the Tallahassee event. He said he loves his new home of Tallahassee so much that he'd rather play here than anywhere. Tallahassee also was pretty good to rookie Leonard Thompson Sunday. Thompson finished two strokes back at 275 and earned $8,550 for second place. Art Wall, Rod Funseth and rookie Steve Melnyk tied for third at 277.

Shaw's love affair with Tallahassee began in 1969 when he blew a three-foot putt on the final hole and lost the first Tallahassee Open.

But while he lost that tournament, he ended up a winner when he met and married a Tallahassee girl named Sarah.

This year, Shaw delighted the home town crowd by firing rounds of 70-67-68-68 to match the course record set by Lee Trevino in 1971.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Colorado Buffs, tied for second place with Oklahoma State, had a chance today, barring bad weather, to move to within one-half game of first place Oklahoma in the Big Eight Conference baseball scramble.

Utah Regains Home-court Advantage

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The home-court advantage returns to the defending American Basketball Association champions, the Utah Stars, tonight as they meet the Indiana Pacers in the fifth game of their best-of-seven series for the Western Division title.

The series was tied 2-2 Saturday night when Indiana rallied in the fourth quarter and defeated Utah 118-108. Indiana won both its home games and Utah won the first two games in Salt Lake City.

In other ABA action tonight, the Virginia Squires, leading 2-0 in the Eastern Division semi-final, travel to New York to take on the Nets once again.

Indiana coach Bob Leonard went to this fast combination of guards, Freddie Lewis and Billy Keller, after the Pacers trailed at halftime 55-54.

Indiana's Roger Brown led all scorers with 29 points, including three three-point goals.

Willie Wise hit 13 for Utah in the first period and wound up with 25, but got only two in the final period. Jimmy Jones scored 24 points. His 14 third-quarter points kept the Stars within reach, but he got only one point in the final period.

Mitchell Captures T of C in Playoff

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — "The invisible man came through," chortled Bobby Mitchell.

The obscure Mitchell, who had complained earlier in the week that sports writers "seem to think I'm invisible—nobody ever writes about me," had just beaten pro golf's most feared competitor in a sudden-death playoff for the title in the prestigious Tournament of Champions.

The 29-year-old Mitchell rolled in a 20-foot putt on the first extra hole Sunday and beat heavily favored Jack Nicklaus for only his second victory in a pro career that dates back to the time he was a youth of 15 in Danville, Va.

"It's a great feeling," exclaimed Mitchell, who collected $33,000 from the total purse of $165,000. "It was a wonderful feeling when I won at Cleveland last year (his first tour triumph). But this was even better because I beat all the champs."

The Tournament of Champions is restricted to players who scored regular pro tour victories in the last 12 months. The awesome Nicklaus, who took the Masters and two other titles already this season, was a 4-1 favorite to successfully defend his title here.

But the odds went for nothing when Nicklaus pulled his tee shot on the par three 14th—the first playoff hole—into the deep rough and chipped six feet past.

Mitchell put his tee shot in the green below the pin and made the putt.

"I didn't really expect to make it," he admitted. "I was just trying to get it close."

Mitchell shot a final round 70 on the long, tough La Costa Country Club course and tied Nicklaus with a 72 hole total of 280.

Lee Trevino was third with a 72-282. Australian Bruce Crampton, Homero Blancas, Jerry Heard and Dave Hill tied at 284. Hill and Heard matched 72s. Crampton took a 71 and Blancas closed with the day's best round, a 67.

Nicklaus started the day with a two stroke lead and lost it on the fifth hole when he put his tee shot in a brook, reached the green in three and three-putted for a double bogey six. That put him in a tie with Mitchell. Mitchell then took the lead with a birdie on the eighth, stroking a sand wedge to five feet. He lost it with a bogey from a trap on the 14th, but got it back again on the next hole, hitting a beautiful iron shot to five feet.

He lost it again on the 17th, when he made a three-putt bogey, missing the second from two feet.

John Kidder Wins Open Division Race

John Kidder, Tipton, weathered cool, gusty winds Sunday afternoon at the Central Cycle Association track north of Sedalia, and captured the track's first race of the season in the open division.

He finished ahead of Clell Funnell, Sedalia.

John Fangohr, Sedalia, and Buck Gallop, Warrensburg, won first-place honors in the 250cc and 200cc divisions respectively.

Other winners in Sunday's motocross activity were Steve Kline, Sedalia (100cc b-division); Randy Turkey, Sedalia (100cc a-division); and Carl Schlomer in the 125cc division.

Barney Knight, Sedalia, was the winner in the junior class.

The next motocross feature is scheduled for May 7.

Bruins Within One
Rangers Into Finals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"The Cup is the dream of every youngster growing up in Canada," said Vic Hadfield, a not-so-young youngster who is captain of the New York Rangers.

The "Cup" is, of course, the Stanley Cup. It is the prize the Rangers are thinking about following their National Hockey League semifinal sweep of the Chicago Black Hawks, including a 6-2 victory Sunday night.

New York must surmount one more obstacle in its quest for the Cup. That obstacle is either the Boston Bruins or the St. Louis Blues, opponents in the other playoff semifinal series. The Bruins lead 3-0 and defeated St. Louis 7-2 Sunday.

The Rangers haven't been in the Stanley Cup finals since 1950 and haven't won the Cup since 1940. It's the opportunity the players have been waiting for.

"I can't feel any better than I do right now," said Rod Gilbert, who, along with Hadfield and Bobby Rousseau, starred in Sunday's fourth victory.

The Rangers fell behind 1-0 early as Bobby Hull put his shot past Ranger goalie Gilles Villemure. New York retaliated quickly on scores by Phil Goyette and Rousseau. Chicago scored again on a Pat Stapleton shot in the second period but the Rangers attack surged again on goals by Hadfield and rookie Gene Carr. Gilbert and Rousseau added the final goals.

Boston, which needs only a victory Tuesday night to qualify to meet the Rangers in the Cup finals, again dominated the game against St. Louis. The scores of the first two games were 6-1 and 10-2, and the Bruins did not let up Sunday.

Precarious Position

St. Louis Blues' goalie Peter McDuffe makes a save as Boston's Garnet Bailey waits for the rebound in the third period of Stanley Cup semifinal action, Sunday, in St.

Louis. The puck got away from Bailey and the Bruins could not take advantage on the play. (UPI)

Ryun Is Back???

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — The track world had reason to wonder today whether world record holder Jim Ryun once more is the Jim Ryun of old.

Ryun, hitting a comeback trail he hopes will lead to an Olympic Gold Medal, outran a classy field Saturday to win the Glenn Cunningham Mile in the Kansas Relays in 3 minutes 57.1 seconds.

Ryun, now with 29 competitive sub-four-minute miles to his credit, was asked about his Olympic preparation timetable after the race and replied:

"I feel like I'm making some progress. A time of 3:57 is right on pace for the Olympic Trials."

If Ryun, who emerged from retirement of some 18 months little more than a year ago, makes the Olympic Trials, he will compete in the 1,500 meters in which he holds the world record. He also has the world's best times ever in the mile and the one-half mile.

It was Ryun's first clocking under four minutes in 11 months. He has had some recent disappointing performances, including a 4:19.6 timing in Los Angeles several weeks ago.

Ryun doesn't know right now when he will run again. He said he plans to sit down with Bob Timmons, the Kansas track coach under whom Ryun is training, and work out a schedule. In all probability, Ryun will compete in the Drake Relays this week but he has made no commitment.

Ryun, admittedly bothered by the delay in the race's start, was pleased that he was able to respond to the brief challenge of Tom Von Ruden of the Pacific Coast Track Club on the last lap which Ryun ran in 53.8.

"I didn't particularly feel good in the race at all," Ryun said. "On the final lap, I began to move and I felt good then. If I could have done 3:55, it would have been great. I thought I'd run faster."

Von Ruden, who finished second in the race at 53.9, said, "It's impossible to hear the roar Jim got before the race and run a 4:19. There's no doubt in my mind that he's as good or better physically than he's ever been. I thought Jim ran a great race."

The meet record crowd of 32,000 broke into bedlam as Ryun, who achieved greatness under Timmons as a Kansas athlete, burst into the lead at the start.

Ryun dropped behind a couple of times before streaking ahead by six yards coming into the stretch and held that advantage the rest of the way.

"Yes, 3:57 is right on pace for the Olympic Trials. . . ." Ryun concluded.

Pat Dupree Sets Only Prep Mark

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Pat Dupree of Shawnee Mission North was the only prep record breaker in the Kansas Relays which ended Saturday.

Dupree bettered the record in the triplejump with 46-9, breaking the mark of 45-3 3/4 inches set last year by Nick Hoffman of Shawnee Mission South.

Topeka athletes won three events. Denny Gragg won the prep discus with a throw of 169 feet. Phil Benning ran the 100 in 9.9 seconds.

The Topeka 880-yard relay team was victorious in time of 1:29.1.

Joe Gimar of Hutchinson won the mile steeplechase in 4:48.5; Chris Perez of Lakin the two-mile run in 9:24.6 and Steve Herman of LaCrosse the mile walk in 7:40.0. Dennis Perkins of Ottawa won the title in the high hurdles in 14.3.

Shawnee Mission West scored in the sprint medley, being clocked in 3:35.0, and Shawnee Mission South took the 440-yard relay in 43.3. Shawnee Mission East was first in the mile relay in 3:20.7.

Raytown South outclassed the field in the Kansas City 880-yard relay with a 1:30.5 performance, and Wichita West grabbed the championship in the two-mile relay in 8:01.4.

Opening-day Rematch

Chiefs, Miami in Opener

NEW YORK (AP) — Darkness had settled in, the bright archlights offering little Garo Yepremian the benefit of the artificial spotlight as he trotted in to attempt the 37-yard field goal that could decide the tense playoff struggle between Miami and Kansas City.

The ball was snapped, Karl Noonan spotted it, Yepremian kicked it—and the Dolphins had beaten the Chiefs 27-24 after 22 minutes and 40 seconds of sudden death overtime in the longest game in pro football history.

It may never happen again, but all the elements will be present Sunday, Sept. 17 when the Dolphins and Chiefs meet in a rematch at Kansas City in one of the openers on the National Football League's 1972 schedule.

The 182-game regular season schedule announced by the NFL also lists two other openers of more than passing interest on the 13-game opening program—Philadelphia at Dallas Sunday and Washington at Minnesota Monday night.

The game against the Eagles will mark the first 1972 test for the Super Bowl champion Cowboys, who will carry a 10-game winning streak into the season. The Redskins-Vikings clash is the opening game of the Monday night series nationally televised by ABC-TV.

In other Sunday openers, Atlanta will be at Chicago, Cincinnati at New England, Green Bay at Cleveland, Houston at Denver, New Orleans at Los Angeles, New York Giants at Detroit, New York Jets at Buffalo, Oakland, at Pittsburgh, St. Louis at Baltimore and San Diego at San Francisco.

Four new coaches will be making their debuts in those games—Abe Giron with Chicago, Bill Peterson with Houston, John Ralston with Denver and Lou Saban with Buffalo. Saban was at Denver last season.

Two other coaches will be starting their first full seasons—Ed Khayat with Philadelphia and Harland Sware with San Diego.

The regular season ends Dec. 17 with the Super Bowl to be played at Los Angeles Jan. 14. The three division winners in the American and National Conferences plus the second-place team in each conference will qualify for the playoffs.

Vanderbilt Captains

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Offensive guard Jim Avery, linebacker Joe Cook and Safety Ken Stone have been elected tri-captains for the 1972 Vanderbilt football team.

OSU's Don Pierce Is Top Performer

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — The Don Pierce Memorial Award for the outstanding performer in the Kansas Relays went to Jim Bolding of Oklahoma State Saturday.

Bolding got 10 votes from sports writers and sportscasters covering the relays. He ran a 45.5 quarter mile for the Cowboys in their victory in the university mile relay and Friday set a meet mark of 50.4 seconds to win the 440-yard intermediate hurdles.

Jim Ryun, who ran the Glenn Cunningham Mile in 3:57.1, was second with nine votes.

Balancing Check Book
Major Banking Headache

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — One of the more frustrating jobs in banking is that of explaining to users of checking accounts where they went wrong in their accounting. Seldom can you satisfy the client completely.

Instead, he—nobody has ever demonstrated that it is the women who makes most of the errors—is likely to walk away confused and unconvinced, brooding about making a fresh start at another bank.

By compounding the situation a few thousand times or a million you get a better measure of the problem. Some $250 billion is held in 80 million checking accounts on which something like 23 billion checks are written annually.

Those figures mean that trillions of dollars in checks are written each year; and, to hear some harried bankers tell it, the number of errors isn't far behind. A good many errors are in simple addition and subtraction.

"How many depositors cannot keep their checkbooks balanced properly?" the officer of a small Illinois bank was asked. "Oh, I'd say perhaps 2,401 of our 2,400 customers," he replied.

And so we now have the latest rage in bank premiums, the checkbook balancer, a one and one-half ounce plastic calculator with a series of dials that add and subtract automatically. It fits right into the checkbook.

Since the gadget became available early last month, nearly 800 full-service banks—that's the new tag for what some still call commercial banks—have begun distributing them, either as premiums or for a small charge.

"Balance your checkbook without unbalancing your mind," is the typical promotional ad.

However, mechanical solution might not be that simple. A test shows that the same ballpoint pen used in adding a column of figures incorrectly can work the same mischief on the calculator.

The calculator's dials, you see, are turned by using the tip of your pen. They are like miniature telephone dials, and everyone knows how easy it is to misdial a telephone number. Same with the calculator. One slip of the pen is all it takes.

Another problem that seems to be disturbing banks more and more involves distortion in figures of another sort, and the distortion is deliberate rather than accidental.

So persistent and pervasive has counterfeiting become that the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and the Secret Service have warned banks to beware of fake notes.

The counterfeits were detected in rising numbers in the Northeast last summer; and now, the Fed says, the activity appears to be continuing at a high rate despite hundreds of arrests. Most of the notes are for $10 and $20.

The rise in counterfeiting—17,357 notes were found in the New York Fed area in 1971 and more than 5,000 in the first three months of this year—is attributed to advances in printing processes.

While conceding this, the Fed also comments that most of the money is of poor quality.

Carrier
Overruns
Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government studies show that construction of two nuclear-powered aircraft carriers and modernization of 20 guided-missile frigates are costing much more than original Navy estimates.

Sen. William Proxmire and Rep. Les Aspin, both D-Wis., released separate studies on the projects Sunday and said the programs may not do the jobs their supporters said they would.

Proxmire said a study by the General Accounting Office shows the projected cost of building the two carriers has risen from an original planning estimate of $946.5 million to $1.78 billion, an 88-per-cent increase.

The study indicates, Proxmire said, "that we may have two highly destructible billion-dollar landing fields already on their way, along with 300 $16-million F14 fighter planes to use them."

The payments aren't very big, either.

Just a $94.00 cash down payment and $67.89 a month for 36 months. (If you're not too good at math, that works out to a deferred payment price of $2,538.04, which includes a finance charge at an ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE of 12.83%.)

Along the way, you get a little financial help from the car. It uses about 5 pints of oil instead of 5 quarts. It doesn't need antifreeze because the engine's air-cooled. And although it does need gas, it doesn't need much of it usually a gallon every 25 miles or so.

Of course, you might be the kind that likes to pay cash for everything. In that case, the cash price is $2,114.00.

Striking Casuals

The carnival is over and clothes to really live in are here. Striking threesome, left, in polyester double knit is patterned and color mated. The long black vest is worn over a tie-front white polyester blouse. Skirt is in black and white patchwork jacquard knit. At right, the white midy has red anchor-patterned tie. Flaring sailor pants are in red or navy with white soutash trim. Both are in polyester double knit. (NEA)

Polly's Pointers

Small Magnet Helps Keep This Box Shut

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — Terry wrote that the magnetic catch on her new breadbox has lost its oomph. I was in the same situation. The lid to mine would not stay shut until my husband put a round magnet about 1½ inches in circumference and ½-inch thick on the inside where the latch should be in the center and this holds the door shut beautifully. We did nothing to the latch or the breadbox.

Some of my ash trays were rather slippery on the bottom so I cut out pieces of bonded material I had left over from sewing and glued them to the bottoms of the ash trays. Now they set well on any table. — ELAINE

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — Your readers always seem to have the answers so perhaps my problem will not seem as difficult to them as it does to me. How can I remove creases from drapery fabric that has a rubber backing? I have tried just about everything but with no success and this fabric is useless the way it looks now. — RITA

DEAR POLLY — Save that bread! Make a big cut like an X or a cross in the plastic lid from a coffee or shortening can. Take up the ends of the bread bag and push through the cut X all the way down to where the slices start and have no more looking for or keeping track of wire twists. — HELEN

For Women

Woman Power Stressed

"POW" or Power of Women was the subject of Mrs. Dayle C. McDonough, president of the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs, at the Tuesday fifth district meeting held in Eldon.

Mrs. McDonough stressed the importance of women taking a more active role in government affairs.

She urged members to look through the official manual of the state and note that many federated club women are listed for their achievements. She also cited the important part Sacajawea, a resourceful Indian woman, played in showing Lewis and Clark the way west.

Mrs. James Holman, endorsed by the Cosmopolitan Junior Women's Club, was elected district director of junior clubs. She will serve a two year term.

The local club, CJWC, also received a certificate of achievement for being on the honor roll five years.

Mrs. J. Bartley and Mrs. Richard Parkhurst were CJWC delegates attending the meeting.

Social Calendar

TUESDAY

Jaycee Wives will meet at 7:30 p.m. at Farm and Home. Chapter IP-P.E.O. will meet at 8 p.m. with Mrs. Van G. Jones, Route 5.

WEDNESDAY

Striped College Extension Club will meet at 11:30 a.m. with Mrs. M. T. Dabner, Route 2.

Houstonia Woman's Club of the MFWC will meet at 2:30 p.m. with Mrs. Amos Rhinehart.

Prairie Ridge Extension Club will meet at 9 a.m. with Mrs. David Walk.

Sedalia Duplicate Bridge will meet at 1 p.m. at West Side Realty.

Students Visit Nautilus Club

LAMONTE — Two college students and one high school student were guests of the LaMonte Nautilus Club of the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs at their Thursday meeting.

Mrs. Lee Hudson introduced Miss Robbie Jackson, the LaMonte student chosen for the recent Sophomore Pilgrimage in Jefferson City who told of the events of that day.

Mrs. Maurice Curtis then presented Miss Carol Tee and Miss Olivia Chang, post-graduate students from Taiwan who are now attending Central Missouri State College. Miss Tee spoke of the topography of Taiwan; its climate, family life, food, religion and schools.

Miss Chang's talk dealt with holidays and festivals observed in the country and places of interest to tourists.

Mrs. Hudson, club president,

Furnished with Antiques

A cheerful dining area is created in a New Jersey farmhouse kitchen with odds-and-ends picked up from a New York antique store. Color is set by a leaf-like printed nylon carpet. A room divider is made of pieces of refinished bannister railing placed on top of each other. Victorian doll house got a fresh coat of paint and is a dog house for a miniature chihuahua. Color comes in the window via strained glass from a 19th-century church. (NEA)

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT-CAPITAL ROUTE MANAGERS HONOR ROLL FOR MARCH, 1972

MIKE CLOSSER

The top carrier for the month of March on the east side of Sedalia was Mike Closser. Mike is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Theodore Closser, 707 E. 18th. He is 13 years old and in the 7th grade at Whittier School, where he is a patrol boy. He is a member of Sacred Heart Church and holds the rank of Tenderfoot in Sacred Heart scout troop #58. His hobbies are building models and riding mini bikes. His sister Terry is helping him on his route and together they are doing a fine job.

TOM ESCHBACHER

The number one carrier for the month of March on the west side of Sedalia was Tom Eschbacher. Tom is the son of Mr. & Mrs. William Eschbacher, 1017 W. 7th. Tom is 13 years old and in the 7th grade at Sacred Heart School. He is a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church and his hobbies are raising pigeons and sports. Tom is doing a very good job on his route.

RONNIE DAY

The first place carrier for the area east of Sedalia for the month of March was Ronnie Day. Ronnie is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Kenneth Day, 506 Elm St. Pilot Grove. He is 8 years old and in the 3rd grade at St. Joseph Catholic School. He likes to play football, softball and any other sports. He is a member of the St. Joseph Catholic Church and his hobbies are fishing, swimming, playing with model racing cars, and putting model cars together. He is a member of the Pilot Grove 4-H and is in the woodworking class. Ronnie is doing an outstanding job on his route. This is the third month in a row he has won first place on the honor roll.

CINDY PEARSON

The best carrier for the area west of Sedalia for the month of March was Cindy Pearson. Cindy is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Paul Pearson, 429 Grover St., Warrensburg. She is 11 years old and in the 6th grade at South East Grade School. She was class president for March, plays Alto-saxophone and is on the track team at school. She attends Nemo Baptist Church and her hobby is swimming. She is a member of Lucky Clovers 4-H, and game leader in the Member of Rainbow Pledge. Cindy is doing a very good job on her route.

Route managers are honored on the basis of route performance, including salesmanship records and service to subscribers. Not all route managers are listed, since certain standards are required for qualification. In addition to earning money, newspaper route management offers an opportunity to win friends and develop characteristics important in later years. Anyone interested in managing a Democrat route is invited to fill out a route application.

the boss' promise

SERVICE:

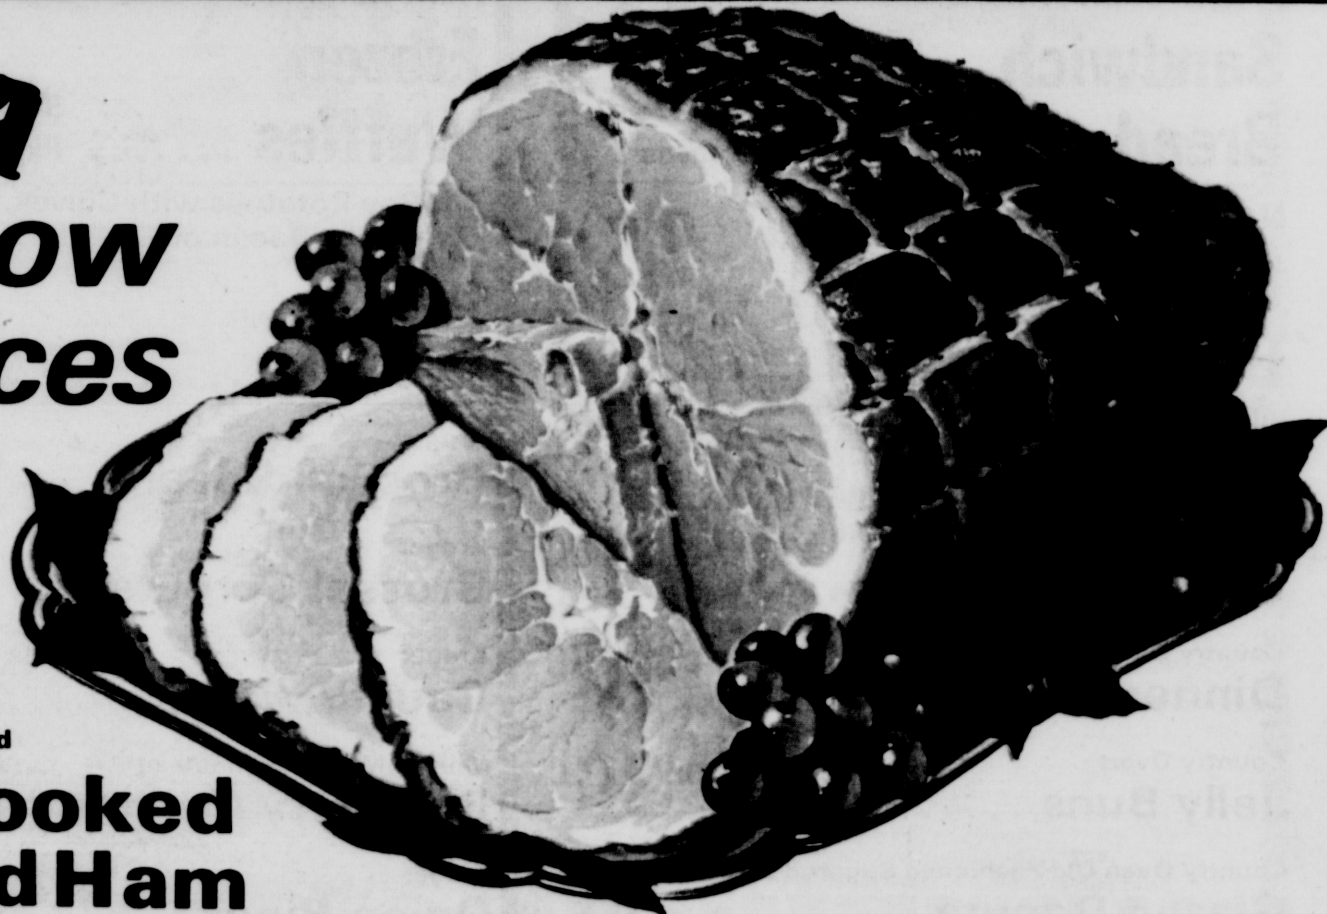

Another way to say "service" is taking better care of you. We're dedicated to that, and I promise you that we'll make every effort to get you through that check-out lane quickly and efficiently and with a minimum of delay.

If for any reason you feel that this part of my promise is not being fulfilled, to you, I want to hear from you directly. Simply ask your Kroger store manager for my private number and call me.

We're dedicated to the proposition that there's always something extra in store for you at Kroger, and I want to follow through personally on my promise to see that you get it.
